CHIEF SPOTTERS IN YORK SPRINGS AREA SELECTED

Further organization of the York Springs airplane spotter station was effected Wednesday night at a meeting of 35 volunteers at the York Springs High School.

Lewis E. Potts, chief observer for the post, named Harry M. Pasick as chief observer for York Springs borough with Mrs. Lynn Smith as co-chairman. Alonzo M. Laventure was named as chief observer for Littlemore and Glenn Heller was named as chief observer and Mrs. Ralph Tyson as assistant for Gardner.

Potts also named M. S. Hershey as chief aide for the organization of the post. Approximately 300 residents of the North Adams area will be needed to provide a 24 hour watch at the York Springs Spotter Station when it goes into operation.

Col. Acker Speaks
Col. Lewis Acker, chief of the Civil Defense air warning system, was the principal speaker.

He warned that "we live under a condition in which we could be attacked at any time, either through Russia feeling confident of its strength, or from fear caused by weakness. It has occurred that dictators, when they feel themselves slipping, start a war as the only means of keeping their own people in line."

"Planes can attack us at any time, and ours is a big country. Radar cannot do the job alone, for it is most effective only on high flying planes. The only way we can really be prepared for attack if it comes is through a coordinated system of radar and spotter stations located every six miles through the nation. Then if any planes do come, the spotter stations will see them, their flight can be calculated and our interceptor planes can knock them out of the air."

To Fix Spot Later
James Strickhouse represented County Chief Observer Crosby N. Hartzell at the meeting. He announced that J. I. Herter and Son plan Monday to take a truck to Letterkenny to secure lumber for the spotter posts of the county.

Plans to fix the location of the spotter post at York Springs by using the Gettysburg Fire Company's ladder truck could not be carried out Wednesday evening, and the ladder truck will travel to the York Springs area in the near future to determine the exact location of the proposed spotter station.

Allege Bigamy In McSherrystown Rites

A former Hanover man, now in the U. S. Navy, faces court martial in the Eleventh Naval District, on charges of desertion and bigamy.

This is revealed by a request from Ensign Joseph E. Stevens Jr., General Court Martial, San Diego, Calif., for the record of a marriage as it appears on the books of the clerk of the Orphans Court in York.

Ensign Stevens asked for a certified record of the license and its return in the marriage of one Robert Francis Brandt to Ruth Augusta Gawthrop, the latter thrice a divorcee, according to the records. It shows that the two were married in McSherrystown on October 27. They gave their address as 316 Baltimore St., Hanover, and "Brandt" declared that his wife died in September of 1929. He gave his age as 42 years and his birthplace as Canada.

The letter from Ensign Stevens says that the man's real name is Cyril Louis Perrault and asserts that the McSherrystown marriage was bigamous.

Reds State They Will Hold Allied Prisoners Who Face Or Are Serving Jail Terms

PANMUNJOM (P) — Another 400 prisoners of the Communists became free men at this dusty village today as the Reds warned ominously that they have the right to hold back Allied prisoners facing or serving jail terms.

Prisoners freed today in the ninth day of the great POW exchange were 75 Americans, 75 British and 250 South Koreans. Most of the repatriates appeared healthy as they bounced from the Red trucks.

This was the first large group from Camp 1 at Chongson. Almost all POWs returned previously were from Camp 5 at Pyoktong on the Yalu River.

However, the stories of turncoats, informers and cruelty in Camp 1 struck a note heard before from the Camp 5 veterans.

Get U. S. Warning
Meanwhile, Red China's harsh warning backed stories from returning prisoners that buddies had been left behind, sentenced to jail for terms up to three years by the Reds on such charges as "instigating against peace."

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles warned the Communists Tuesday that the U. N. Command would not return Red captives convicted of crimes "until we know the attitude of the Communists toward ours." He said the UNC wanted all POWs returned.

Peiping radio said the Geneva Convention provides that prisoners facing "criminal proceedings for an indictable offense . . . may be detained until the end of such proceedings, and, if necessary, until the completion of the punishment. The same shall apply to prisoners . . . already convicted . . ."

New Red Charge
Peiping charged Dulles with "blackmail" in his threat of retaliation and said that while he charged that the Reds do not intend to return all the POWs, "Dulles, nevertheless, has to admit (Continued On Page 10)

AIR FORCE TO RETURN TOH TO U. S. FROM KOREA

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. District Judge Walter M. Bastian today ordered the Air Force to return former Sgt. Robert W. Toth of Pittsburgh from Korea to Washington on Sept. 1. Toth is charged with murder in the slaying of a South Korean civilian.

Judge Bastian set the return date requested by Toth's attorney, William A. Kehoe Jr. He overruled a request by E. Riley Casey, assistant U. S. attorney, to fix the return date for Aug. 24.

Casey said the Air Force is interested in expediting Toth's return under court order so that the case can be concluded as soon as possible.

Stays Order For Appeal

Setting the return date today was merely a formality.

U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff ruled last June 25 that Toth, an honorably discharged veteran and 22-year-old steel worker, had been arrested illegally. He ordered the Air Force to return Toth to the U. S. by July 9.

But Holtzoff stayed his order to permit the Air Force to appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Subsequently, the higher court dismissed the appeal on a technicality, opening the way for Toth's return.

The new return date fixed today had to be set by court order since the original date had passed.

Toth's return Sept. 1 will not mean the end of the case.

Dog Accidentally Kills His Master

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A husky German police dog today accidentally killed the master he had served 12 years.

Martin O'Brien, 43, was found dead in bed at home on Pittsburgh's North Side with what a physician described as a "dog wound" on his left arm. He had bled to death.

Thad Naumann, O'Brien's brother-in-law, said the dog apparently clawed O'Brien in jumping from his master's bed. The wound severed an artery.

Naumann said O'Brien had raised the dog, Laddy, from a pup. He said the dog often slept with his master and was so devoted to him he followed him anywhere and would permit no one to bother him.

FRENCH LABOR SHAKES A BIG FIST AT LANIEL

PARIS (AP)—French organized labor shook a big fist under Premier Joseph Laniel's nose today, calling out upwards of four million strikers to underline its protest against the government's economy program.

Most of the workers were ordered to walk out for only 24 or 28 hours. But a hard core of more than a million already is committed to stay out until the Premier backs down, tying up the nation's mines, railways, gas and electricity works, public health services and postal, telegraph and telephone systems.

In the ninth day of the strike wave, Laniel, a multimillionaire textile industrialist who learned, to fight in the wartime French underground, stuck his chin out and said he would not yield.

Gives Fighting Speech

In a fighting speech to the nation last night, the 64-year-old Premier exclaimed:

"I say not to strike. I say not to pressure moves, direct or indirect, which have been imposed on the government."

All factions of French labor were pressing him. The first walkouts last week were called by the Socialist Workers' Force (FO), but the Communist-led General Federation of Labor (CGT) and the Christian (Catholic) Trades Union (CFTC) quickly joined in.

Laniel declared it was the duty of the government of a democratic state to oppose the strike. He asserted the quicker workers realized the strike would end sooner or later, the quicker the nation could buckle down to carrying out the "generous social program" he said he has in mind.

The wave of walkouts was sparked by disclosure that the government's program for rescuing the nation's treasury from near-bankruptcy included lopping some employees off public payrolls and upping the retirement age for civil servants.

Workers also were angered that Laniel's plan did not put a heavier tax bite on the nation's wealthy. And the Communists chimed in with calls for a general wage boost.

GENERAL'S SON SUFFOCATES IN BLAZE AT HOME

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP)—Walter Thomas Grow, 21, West Point cadet and son of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow whose diary was stolen by the Communists, died of suffocation in a fire at the family home here last night.

Members of the family said they heard the youth cry out and when they hurried to investigate they found his upstairs room a mass of flames.

Young Grow's body was found near a window to which he apparently had tried to make his way. He had just come home on summer vacation from the military academy where he was a third classman.

General Loses Appeal

The elder Grow, now retired from Army service, was military attache in Moscow at the time Red agents got their hands on his diary while he was on a visit to Frankfurt, Germany. The Communists used and twisted the contents of the diary in a propaganda campaign.

The general, a World War II tank commander, was convicted by a court martial of improperly keeping security information in the personal journal, and failing to safeguard it. He was sentenced in July, 1952, to a formal reprimand and suspension from command of troops for six months. He retired at the beginning of this year, and the conviction was upheld on appeal only last month.

named and will be called the Joint School Committee. The governing board of two directors from each of the five districts of the Jointure will therefore be known as the Joint School committee of the Littlestown Jointure.

HANDICAP COMMITTEE

The handicap committee has a task I wouldn't share. Rare the golfer who will tell you "That his handicap is fair."

"Much too low," the good man argues, and his rival standing by. For some peculiar reason has been rated much too high.

"I'm a ten man," wails another, "but to that I cannot play. I won a prize last week-end and they took two strokes away."

And the other fellow answers him: "They should have made it nine."

And while they were about it added two or three to mine."

The handicap committee has a task I'd never choose. For every friend it pleases there are many it will lose.

"I'll be thought in every golf club till the last of golfers die."

Too low the low man's rated and his rivals all too high.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE AUDIENCE

The audience that makes possible the theatre, the movies, radio, TV, and the book reading public is far more important than any of us realize. Without this audience none of these useful institutions could long endure. And although these audiences may remain idle, or silent, they perform a great service to the world, which includes all of us.

It's the audience, that influences most of the activities in which we are engaged. Where would business be if it didn't get an audience for its products, upon being interested, and then persuaded to buy? Where else could the millions get the relaxation and essential pleasure that they enjoy from actors, public speakers, and artists in so many phases of life? The audience makes them!

This newspaper would cease publication tomorrow if it had no readers—no audience. And the magazine and book publishers would be no more—without their audience, their readers and book buyers.

Every human being becomes a silent force when it comes to audiences. He is all important.

It is inspiring to us all when people in an audience applaud. It encourages the one who has demonstrated his desire to please people. It makes the great actor, artist, musician, writer, or publisher. Be glad to applaud. You return to the deserving his due!

Appreciation often means more to a worker or performer than money. It's something for which we all hunger. We do not count sacrifice when we are appreciated. It's manna to the soul. It works double—it gives zest, incentive and hope to the deserving and to the one who offers it. We are the audience among our friends as they pour out their likes and dislikes, their purposes and their dreams.

What would a baseball game be without its enthralled audience? The cheers and applause from the fans of both teams are what bring out the best that is in every player. Thoreau had no audience for his first book, and nearly a thousand copies were thrown back on his hands. The audience finally came however, and Thoreau has taken his place among the great!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Time-Pieces." Protected, 1952, George Matthew Adams Service

All Rome to Greet Balbo Upon Return: ROME, August 12 (AP)—The Eternal City quit its routine early today to prepare a glorious welcome for General Italo Balbo's returning armada.

Everywhere there were flags and placards eulogizing the aviators who, according to dispatches, are well on their last lap from Lisbon, Portugal.

Special excursion trains brought thousands of Italians, who came to participate in the festivities in which an important detail will be a triumphant procession, not seen since the time of the Caesars, through the Arch of Constantine.

Thousands of people went to Ostia Rome's nearby port, where the fleet will land.

Mussolini planned personally to go to Ostia to greet and embrace the aviators.

The weekend program is packed with welcoming activities. The parade will be tomorrow.

Eisenhower Calls On All U.S. Departments To Slash Spending Now And During Next Year

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's Colorado vacation will be far from carefree. Besides everything else, he will have big money worries. They will continue through 1953 and most of 1954 too.

The administration made known yesterday it has called upon the departments and agencies to do all they can to cut spending this year even more than they had planned and, for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, to try for deeper cuts.

Eisenhower's most immediate problem is the national debt. It is now 272½ billion dollars. This is what the government owes as a result of borrowing over many years. Biggest part of the debt is due to World War II expenses. The debt had started down after the war until this country began to rearm and help its allies. Bills for defense goods and foreign aid are still coming in.

But in 1946 Congress set the limit on the national debt at 275 billion dollars. All but about half a billion is subject to that limit. In other words, the government, which now owes 272½ billions, can't borrow more than an additional three billion without bumping into the legal ceiling.

Congress returns next Jan. 6 for its regular 1954 session. By then, if the administration thinks it must borrow beyond the limit, Congress could raise the limit.

But the administration expressed fear that it might get so tightly jammed on meeting its bills between now and January that it would have to borrow past the 275 billion limit.

For that reason, Eisenhower asked Congress before it quit a week ago to raise the limit to 290 billions. Congress refused, leaving it up to the administration to cut expenses enough to avoid more debt.

Hint Special Session
If the administration still thinks it must borrow beyond the present debt limit before January, Eisenhower will have to call Congress back to special session this fall.

That's an Eisenhower economic problem for 1953. Next year he will have a new kind.

In January he will present to Congress the administration's budget—the estimated cost of running the government—for the fiscal year starting next July 1. In figuring this budget the administration will have to figure its income as well as its outgo.

That income is almost entirely from taxes. The hope of any administration is to balance the budget; that is, to keep its expenses equal to, if not lower than its income.

Must Borrow Money
If it can't—if it winds up spending more than it takes in—then it will have to make up the deficit by borrowing money. And every time it borrows, up goes the national debt.

Next year will be rough on budget-balancing. On Dec. 31, 1953, the excess profits tax on corporations automatically come down about 10 per cent.

That was previously decided by Congress. And Eisenhower said he would not ask for a change in that. But on April 1 there are more scheduled tax reductions: on corporations and on excise or sales taxes.

The cost of these various revenue losses to the government has been estimated at as much as eight billion dollars. At the same time Eisenhower and congressional leaders have promised tax revisions next year.

Plan Future Changes
Some changes which have been talked about in the Capitol, although far from assured, include: a tax benefit for working wives who pay for the care of their children at home; liberalized deductions for expenses and medical costs; lower taxes on corporate

Littlestown

A Ladies' Night program was enjoyed by the Littlestown Rotarians, their Rotary Anns and other guests on Tuesday evening. The group had dinner at the Log Cabin inn, Caledonia, after which the presentation of "The Cockeyed Miracle" was witnessed at the Totem Pole Playhouse. The program was in charge of A. G. Ealy, chairman of the program committee. Arrangements for the affair were made by Ernest W. Dunbar and Dr. Howard A. Stonelifer.

Those who participated in the Ladies' Night affair were the following: Rotarians and Rotary Anns, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rabenstein, Mr. and Mrs. L. Robert Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Preston L. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Luther dividends.

The revenue loss to the government by such changes? Additional billions. In May, Eisenhower said he would send a tax program to Congress next January.

This problem: How can the government lose billions in revenue and still balance the budget unless, perhaps, it cuts deeply into defense and foreign aid spending?

Congress may decide that, if the country is to avoid going further into debt while letting the scheduled tax reductions go into effect, it may have to find revenue by imposing or raising some other taxes.

Yet, next year is an election year for Congress, usually reluctant at such times to raise taxes.

Majors Setting New Marks On Home Runs; Yanks Swamp Senators 22-1; Chisox Lose

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The major leagues are two thirds of the way through a fence-busting campaign that threatens to endanger a flock of modern home run records.

At least five already have been equalled or broken. The National League is well on the road to a new all-time total mark. Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee is keeping close to Babe Ruth's 1927 pace—the year the Babe clouted his never equalled 60.

One mark was tied and one surpassed last night.

100th Yankee Homer
At St. Louis, Ray Boone hit a bases-loaded homer in the ninth inning, providing the winning margin as Detroit beat the Browns 7-3. It was his fourth grand slam drive of the season, tying a major league record shared by nine other players including Ruth in his Boston Red Sox days of 1919, Lou Gehrig and Ralph Kiner.

At Washington, Yogi Berra homered in the first inning of the New York Yankees' 22-1 landslide against the Senators for the Yankees' 30th year since 1920 that the Yanks have hit 100 or more. No other club comes close to this all-time mark.

The other records equalled or erased this season include: Most season of 100 or more homers by a National League club—22 by the New York Giants, who have 122 to date. (Old mark: 21 by the Giants.)

Most homers in five consecutive games—20 by the St. Louis Browns. (Old mark: 17 by the Yankees.)

Consecutive home runs in an inning—3 by the St. Louis Browns (equals a record held by numerous teams).

Homer Wins For Brooks
Grand slam home runs played vital roles in two National League games yesterday. At New York, Duke Snider of Brooklyn blasted his second bases-loaded drive in three games as the Dodgers came from behind to nip the Giants 6-5. And at Chicago Andy Seminick cleared the bases with a homer in the ninth for the winning margin as Cincinnati whipped the Cubs 10-6 in the first game of a double-header. The Cubs won the second, 3-1.

The Yankees' top-sided victory increased their league lead to seven games over the Chicago White Sox, who lost to Cleveland 7-4. Boston beat Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings.

Milwaukee clipped half a game off Brooklyn's lead—now seven games—by winning a double-header from St. Louis 8-2 and 5-3. Robt. Roberts became the first pitcher of the season to win 20 games as Philadelphia beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4.

Barrage Of 28 Hits
In their last dozen games Washington pitchers had yielded only 16 runs. The Yankees smashed this mark to bits with a 28-hit barrage, highest in either league this season. New York ran the score to 22-0 before Washington pushed across its lone run in the eighth inning off young Steve Kraly.

The White Sox put on one of their patented late-inning rallies to pull ahead at Cleveland in the eighth. But the Indians staged a rally of their own, getting four runs in the bottom of the eighth to win.

Three singles and a long fly produced two runs for Boston in the top of the 10th at Philadelphia and then the Red Sox threw in three pitchers as the A's narrowed the gap with a single tally in the 10th. After an easy first-game triumph the Braves had to stage an eight-inning spurt in the nightcap to put down the Cardinals. Jim Pendleton doubled home the deciding run.

Roberts, foiled in his first attempt to win 20 at Chicago last Saturday, took matters in his own hands last night and drove across three runs.

Legion Softball Dinner Tonight

Members of the American Legion Softball Team will be guests at a fried chicken dinner at the Albert J. Lentz Legion home, Baltimore street, tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

John Yovisich, head coach of football at Gettysburg College, will speak and show movies of college football games.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
By The Associated Press
PITCHING—Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phillies, became the first major league pitcher this season to win 20 games, stopping Pittsburgh, 8-4.

BATTING—Ray Boone, Detroit Tigers, hit his fourth grand slam home run of the season, tying the major league record, as the Tigers defeated St. Louis, 7-3.

HOGAN SMILES ON GOLF COURSE

JAMESBURG, N. J. (AP)—Ben Hogan showed a new face.

The bantam Texan, fabled for his stony faced, methodical play, yesterday shot a Forsgate Country Club course exhibition match with a smile.

Some 5,500 spectators, who surged against ropes and guards to get a close look, saw the U. S. and British Open champ go the 71-par circuit in a 35-34-69.

Even the crowding didn't stop Hogan's joviality, which began at his pre-game shot-making exhibition during which he wisecracked and, at one point, impersonated comedian Bob Hope.

Hogan's change of face didn't seem to affect his club work. Each of his drives went right down the middle and he made 17 of 18 greens in par. On the 18th, he wandered into a trap, but achieved par by blasting out to within a few feet of the pin.

The balance of the foursome did well, too. Columist and TV star Ed Sullivan, who was Hogan's partner, fired a 37-38-75. Jerry Volpe, home club pro, had a 36-36-72, and his partner, ranking amateur Chet Sanok, had a 35-35-70.

SCRANTON WINS 23 TO 4 BATTLE

By The Associated Press

It was enough to make the fans dizzy, watching the Eastern League Scranton Miners run the bases last night.

The Miners, carrying their battle to get out of the cellar to Wilkes-Barre and the seventh-place Barons, chased home 23 runs—11 in one inning—to capture the second game of a doubleheader, 23-4. The Barons won the opening contest, 2-1, and preserved a four-game margin over the Miners.

The Reading Indians split a doubleheader with the host Williamsport Athletics, losing the first game, 10-8, but grabbing the nightcap, 7-3. The Schenectady Blue Jays and Albany Senators also divided a pair at Albany. The Jays took the first, 8-3, but lost the finale, 5-3.

The Binghamton Triplets cut Reading's first-place margin to a single game by whipping the host Elmira Pioneers, 10-3.

Winning driver (2nd from left), Harry Harvey, poses with winning horse Helicopter after clinching 1953 Hambletonian by winning 2nd and 3d heats on Good Time track, at Goshen, N. Y. Left to right with winner's trophies are: Mrs. J. Elgin Armstrong; Edwin Armstrong; Harvey; and J. Elgin Armstrong. The Armstrongs, from Brampton, Can., co-own the trotter.

29-Year-Old Vermont Farm Boy Wins Richest Of All Harness Races, $117,117 Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—A 29-year-old Vermont farm boy, who seven years ago literally begged for a job, today was the toast of light harness racing after driving a finely tuned filly to victory in the richest of all Hambletonian Stakes.

Harry Harvey brought the Canadian-owned Helicopter home first in the second and third heats of the $117,117 buggy whip derby yesterday at Good Time Park to become the youngest driver ever to win the classic.

And in winning the third and deciding heat, Harvey beat 71-year-old Tom Berry, the man who finally tired of discouraging the youngster and gave him a job five years with the old master and Harvey switched to a job as fourth string driver with trainer-driver Del Miller.

"I Was Lucky"

"Del gave me a fine filly and I was lucky," said the modest New England horseman after winning the second mile in 2:02 4/5 and the third in 2:02 3/5.

Helicopter, daughter of Hoot Mon, 1947 Hambletonian winner and ninth filly to win the classic, was purchased as two-year-old for $7,500 by the Canadian road-building brothers, J. Elgin and C. E. Armstrong of Brampton, Ont., from Miller and the latter's partner, Johnny Simpson.

She was foaled at Menges Mills, Pa., and sold by Richard Hoke as a weanling to the Castleton Farm for $1,150. Miller and Simpson took her out of Castleton yearling sales for $2,000. The Canadians turned the filly over to Miller to train.

Profitable Transaction
So all-in-all it proved a mighty profitable transaction for Miller, for as trainer of the winner he gets 10 percent of the purse of $63,126.59. Miller wouldn't say but he indicated Harvey also would put a nice piece of change in his pocket.

Morse Hanover turned in the fastest time of 2:01 3/5 in winning the first heat for W. C. Evans' Milkway Farm of Rockville Center, N. Y.—a heat in which Helicopter wound up 17th in the record field of 23 three-year old trotters.

In winning the third mile, young Harvey beat out Berry, driving Kimberly Kid for Leonard Buck's Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J. Second money of $22,955.12 went to Morse Hanover. Third share of the purse, $13,773.07, was won by Margaret Critchfield's Singing Sword of Wooster, Ohio, with Miller handling the reins. Singing Sword wound up second in the first mile and third in the next two.

Elby Hanover from the Saunders Mills Stable of Toledo, Ohio, was fourth in the final standings with a 7-2-4 finish. Fifth went to Kimberly Kid who was 8-5-2. Newport Star, pre-race favorite, had to be content with sixth after finishing 3-4-6.

GIL TURNER IS WINNER BY KAYO OVER FUENTES

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil Turner, a sensational one-punch knockout winner over Ramon Fuentes, is willing to bide his time, waiting for another title shot at Welter Champ Kid Gavilan.

Turner probably will have to take his place in line, anyhow, for it is reported that Gavilan will defend next against Carmen Basilio at Syracuse Sept. 18. No official announcement has yet been made.

"We're willing to wait six months, even a year, if necessary," said George Katz, Turner's manager, last night at Madison Square Garden after Gil's KO in 2:49 of the fifth round.

"It Was Easy"

"The cut over his left eye will keep him out for about a month," he said. "And I hear Johnny Bratton has been promised the title shot. The kid is learning how to pace himself, getting a little more power in his punches. He's just a kid and he's getting better all the time."

The Philadelphia Negro said he followed his battle plan for the knockout, waiting for "just one shot."

"I never knocked anybody out with one punch in my life," he said. "Funny thing, it was easy. Just like I worked it in the gym."

Long Right To Bottom

Turner flattened the Los Angeles lad with a long right hand to the "button" just when he seemed to be hard pressed in the fifth round. Two officials had Gil out front but Judge Arthur Susskind said it even 2-2 going to the fifth. Referee Ruby Goldstein had 3 for Turner and 1 even and Judge Frank Forbes saw Turner on top 3-1.

A small crowd, estimated at 2,500 with $7,000 receipts by the International Boxing Club, saw Fuentes bother Turner as they fought head to head until the sudden ending. It was the second time the 27-year-old Fuentes had been stopped in 24 pro fights. Turner kept banging away to the body until he got his opening.

NEW QUAKES, FIRES BRING NEW HORRORS TO GREEK ISLES

ATHENS, Greece (P) — Earth tremors continuing into their fifth day and unchecked fires brought new horror today to three quake-ravaged islands off the western coast of Greece.

Ships of all sizes shuttled incessantly across the Ionian Sea, bringing hundreds of injured to hospitals in Patras, the closest big city.

There still is no official estimate of the total dead among the 120,000 people of the wrecked islands of Ithaca, Kefallinia and Zakynthos. Unofficially, the figure was placed so far at just under 1,000 with "countless" injured. It was feared the uncleaned rubble hid many more bodies.

120,000 Homeless
Fires were reported still burning in the cities of Zakynthos, population 15,000, and Argostolion, population 10,000. Both were destroyed by the earth disturbances. Most or virtually all of the 120,000 islanders were reported homeless.

The Ministry of Interior said officials on Kefallinia advised Argostolion, the island's chief port, was "beginning to sink under water."

No Letup In Sight
No letup was in sight. The brief reports from the area said the tremors still were continuing.

From Naples, the speedy 20,000-ton cruiser Salem, flagship of the U. S. 6th Fleet, sped to the stricken islands with doctors, stocks and medical supplies and food and a helicopter aboard.

Another American helicopter was on its way from Tripoli and others were expected from Germany. Without them, rescue and aid could come only by ship or amphibian plane. The islands have no landing strips. And only the rotor-bladed aircraft could reach mountain-locked villages, whose fate remained a mystery.

King Paul and Queen Frederika, cutting short an Aegean island vacation, planned to leave at once for the disaster scene aboard a Greek destroyer.

The British rushed the frigate Rangler and the destroyer Daring from the Mediterranean island of Malta and diverted the cruiser Gambia at sea to bring food, medicines, doctors, tents and demolition tools to the disaster area. Three other British warships at Malta harbor were under sailing orders.

For many of the evacuees, the trip was their first look at the outside world. Many of the villagers had never before left the communities their ancestors founded centuries ago.

Two Killed As GM Plant Is Destroyed

DETROIT (P) — A $5 million dollar fire roared through the General Motors Corp. transmission and instrument plant in suburban Livonia late yesterday, leaving a charred building.

Two men were killed, more than a score injured.

One GM official, who estimated the damage cost, said that production in the Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Pontiac plants would be hit. An estimated 45,000 workers may be out of their jobs temporarily.

WIDOW CROSSES ATLANTIC ALONE

MIAMI, Fla. (P) — A smiling, blue-eyed widow rested and caught up on her correspondence today aboard the 23-foot yacht Felicity

Ann after a 15-month voyage alone across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Ann Davison, 38, arrived in Miami yesterday to become the first woman to make a solo voyage from England to America in a tiny sailing craft.

The trip began at Plymouth, England, on May 18, 1952, and Mrs. Davison estimates she traveled 8,000 to 9,000 miles by sail and auxiliary power to reach Miami.

She still wore a wedding band given her by her late husband, who was swept overboard and lost at the start of an Atlantic voyage four years ago.

Mrs. Davison plans to continue her voyage to New York aboard the Felicity Ann. She will return to England in October to write a book.

FORESEE LARGE APPLE CROP

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (P) — A 1953 U. S. apple crop of 98,700,000 (M) Bushels—larger than last year but under the average—was estimated today at the annual convention of the International Apple Assn.

Fred W. Burrows, secretary, who handles statistics for the organization, made available to members a report which included these estimates:

The crop will total about 98,700,000 bushels. Processors will use about 30 million bushels in producing such products as apple juice and apple sauce. Approximately two million bushels will be exported, and about four million bushels will be used on farms.

A spokesman said the 1953 yield will be slightly larger than last year's but will fall under the average of about 110 million bushels.

FATHER - SON MILLER MARKET OPENS TONIGHT

Miller's Self-Service Market will open this evening near Fairfield, at the intersection of the Gettysburg-Fairfield and Orntanna-Fairfield Roads.

The Fairfield High School Band will give a concert between 6 and 9 o'clock and John D. Lippy Jr., Seminary Ave., will present acts of magic at various times during the evening.

After tonight the store will be open from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Miller's store succeeds the former Pumphrey Grocery at that location, and has been re-stocked for the opening. Dawson R. Miller, E. Water St., one of the partners in the business, said this morning.

Father-Son Business
The market is a family partnership between father and son both of whom have had long experience in the grocery business.

Dawson R. Miller, the father, has had 26 years of experience as an employee and manager of American and Acme stores here. A native of Graceham, Md., he moved to Gettysburg in 1927 when he married the former Miss Emma A. (Gall) Zimmerman, of R. 5.

Miller is a member of the Gettysburg Odd Fellows, a past president of the POS of A and is a member of the Loyal Order of Moose.

His son, Robert S. Miller, is a graduate of Gettysburg High School with the Class of 1942. Immediately thereafter he was called for Army service and was an infantryman with Patton's Third Army in Europe. He served for four years, most of it overseas, during World War II.

Since the war he has been employed by Good Brothers, wholesale distributors at Camp Hill. He plans to move to the Fairfield area in the early future.

Court Asked To Upset Rate Boost

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—The State Supreme Court has been asked by the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO) to set aside higher rates recently approved for the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania.

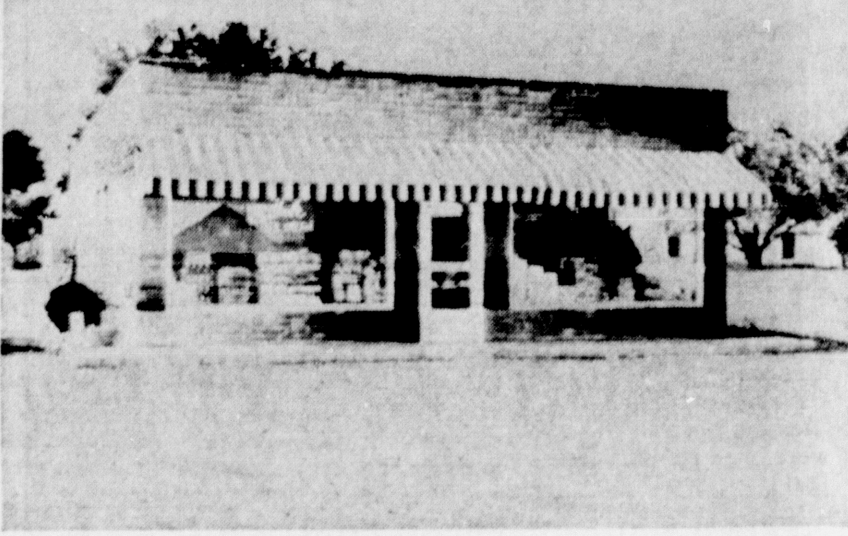

The Public Utility Commission approved the rates and its order subsequently was upheld by the State Superior Court. The city of Pittsburgh already has appealed to the Supreme Court for a rehearing on the rates.

The union petition filed yesterday said the affirmation by the Superior Court of the findings of the PUC was by a minority membership. The court decision, the petition avers, was "divided closely by a 3-2 vote."

"JAKE" MAZONE IS ARRESTED IN CHESTER DEPOT

CHESTER, Pa., (AP)—John (Jake) Mazon, sought for six days in connection with the shooting of a Philadelphia detective, was arrested early today at the Pennsylvania Railroad station here.

Mazon is alleged to have shot and seriously wounded Detective John D. Reagan as the police officer attempted to arrest him on suspicion of burglary. Police said Mazon clubbed Reagan with the detective's black jack and then shot him. Reagan is reported in good condition at Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia.

Wounded By Infected
Mazon was seized at the railroad station by Sgt. Paul McKinney and Patrolmen Vincent Bole and John Thomas. The fugitive's right leg, wounded in the struggle with Reagan, was badly infected and apparently causing him great pain.

The man seized at the Chester station at first denied he was Mazon. Chester police, however, said the man had in his possession a telephone bill made out in the name of John Mazon and several letters from an attorney addressed to Mazon.

The three arresting officers went to the station in answer to a call that a man of Mazon's description was in the waiting room. They found the man seated on a baggage truck eating a sandwich. He said he was Willie White of Wilmington, Del., and displayed a ticket for Wilmington. He offered no resistance.

GETS JAIL TERM FOR ACCEPTING YANKEE FOOD

BERLIN (AP)—East German food-seekers brought word today of a three-month jail sentence given a Soviet zoner for bringing an American food parcel back from West Berlin. It was the first report here of such a penalty.

Arrivals from the Communist-held territory said a Brandenburg Railway official, caught by the Communist police as he carried his package through the Potsdam rail station, was summarily tried and sentenced to three months in prison.

Border crossers told also of two new measures which have stirred up considerable resentment:

Reds Destroy Food

1. People's Police handling the control point on East Berlin's Warsaw Bridge seized dozens of packages and threw them into the Spree River.

2. Police checking all passes on trains are tearing up those which do not belong to the holder.

Many East Germans bring the passes of friends to pick up food packages for lack of an East German who lacks an identity pass is in trouble. A new one costs him 30 marks—several days pay for the average worker—and loss of the old one means an additional fine of 30 marks.

In spite of the tight controls, those still coming over the border say most packages are being smuggled through.

Hurricanes Sweep Up Eastern Coast

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—The season's first hurricane, increasing in size and intensity, moved up the Atlantic shipping lane today and threatened the Carolina coast.

The Miami Weather Bureau said the hurricane, which formed east of Daytona Beach early yesterday, was growing and it advised shipping in the area to exercise caution. Small craft was told to stay in port.

The hurricane had winds estimated at 95 to 100 miles an hour over a small area and gales extended outward 120 miles.

ESCAPES FROM BULL

PEORIA, Ariz., (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Walker, 30, grabbed a pitchfork and held off an enraged bull until her husband, who had been trampled by the animal, crawled out of the pen on their ranch here. Jack T. Walker, 32, was treated for broken ribs and a fractured jaw in a Phoenix hospital.

Writes

century, at about the time the Abbott family arrived to establish the borough, in this fashion: "If a late spring traveler, facing north, had stood on the crest of the Pigeon Hills at the beginning of the 18th century and had scanned the magnificent panorama that lay before him, he would have seen practically no evidence of the white man's civilization. The valley below was heavily forested—oak, hickory, walnut, cherry, poplar, ash and cedar predominating. At his feet he might have noted the beginning of a winding stream that emptied its waters in a creek bordering the distant horizon. The solitude of his environment might have been broken now and then by the barking of a fox, the cawing of an American crow, or the soft sweet call of the wood pewee. Somewhere in this valley, he may have reflected, would be a fitting place to establish his future home."

Was "Barwick Town"

Eisenhart notes that the town's growth "has been slow. There are approximately 160 homes within the limits of the borough. The 1950 census gives it a population of 535. Its people, in the main, are the descendants of Pennsylvania Germans who settled in York County 150 to 200 years ago."

"Until 1835 it was a part of Berwick Twp. which was one of the subdivisions of York County before Adams was established in 1800. In the oldest records, the town is referred to as Barwick Town. Abbott's or Abbott's Town and Berwick Borough. Since August 28, 1911, the official name has been Abbottstown."

The writer observes that there is no evidence that American Indians permanently occupied the territory in and about Abbottstown but says that unearthing of Indian artifacts show Indians at least temporarily occupied sites on the north side of the Pigeon Hills. The Abbott family tradition tells of bands of Indians visiting the original home and asking for something to eat.

Founder's Grave There

John Abbott, the founder of the town, came from the British Isles and in his papers refers to the town as Berwick Town, apparently to distinguish it from Berwick Twp. Eisenhart relates. The Abbott name is spelled variously in early records as Abbet, Abbat, Abbott, Abbeith and Abbott.

According to the inscription on John Abbott's tombstone in the Old Dutch Cemetery at the Lutheran Church in Abbottstown, he was born January 8, 1700, and died February 19, 1786.

The book contains details of all that is known of Abbott's seven children, a copy of the original draft of the 506 acres owned by him, from part of which Abbottstown was established.

SUSPECT MAN OF KILLING WIFE

SAVANNAH, Ga., (AP)—The mutilated body of a middle-aged woman was found last night on the floor of her apartment; a man about 50 sat nearby in a bloody undershirt. Police said the man identified himself as John Frank Russell of New York state, presently unemployed.

The woman, identified by Russell as Dorothy Johnson Gill of Osceola Mills, Pa., had several deep gashes in the top of her head and several bruises on her face. She was lying on the living room floor, one hand smeared with butter. A container of butter and a bloody hatchet lay nearby.

Find Wine Bottles

In the kitchen was a half empty bottle of wine and a dozen or more empty wine bottles were scattered throughout the kitchen and back porch.

Police said they went to the apartment in answer to a telephone call they believe was from Russell. When they arrived Russell was seated in a reclining chair, his undershirt bloody. He talked incoherently.

Detective Sgt. Chris Fountain said the woman was Russell's wife and that Russell had given her maiden name in identifying her. He said Russell at one time referred to the woman as his wife and insisted they had never quarreled.

Russell was held for questioning, but no formal charge had been filed against him.

That's right... Permalite means a better house... extra value for your money. In plaster, it gives you added insulation... a cooler house in Summer, fuel savings in Winter. Gives extra fire protection, too. Makes plaster stronger and more crack resistant. Lightweight, it saves tons of dead weight, which means less settling and minimum maintenance.

In concrete floor slabs, Permalite gives up to 20 times the insulation of ordinary concrete. Adds year 'round comfort and heating economy to basementless homes. It's an ideal base for floor radiant heating systems. Ask us about the many benefits of Permalite perite aggregates — it adds much to building quality — little to building cost. *Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

News Of Special Interest To The Residents Of Emmitsburg And Vicinity

LIONS PLANNING HORSE SHOW, ANNIVERSARY

The fourth annual Emmitsburg Lions Club Horse Show and celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the service club in Emmitsburg will be held Sunday, September 27, at the Lions Club grounds, east of town along the Taneytown Rd.

The annual Horse Show, which has come to be a major party of the year in Emmitsburg, will be held Sunday, September 27, at the Lions Club grounds, east of town along the Taneytown Rd.

Proceeds from the show will go into the Lions Club fund for civic projects and charity work of the club. Last year's show netted the fund about $300.

Herbert W. Rodgers is chairman of the program and advertising committee.

Judges, approved by the Maryland State Horse Show Association, already have been selected. Reports on progress being made with the horse show plans were presented at a Lions meeting Monday evening in Rodgers' new restaurant in Emmitsburg.

The new club president, Clarence W. Eakin, last month completed appointment of the horse show committee. Rodgers had been named chairman earlier in the year by the retiring president, J. Ward Harrison.

The date for the club's silver anniversary celebration has not been set but will include a fitting observance of the 25th year of the service club that has been active in community undertakings for a quarter century. Mr. Harrison was the first president and on July 1 completed his second one-year term as the leader of the Lions. The Lions will meet again on August 24.

October 20 is the date of founding and the celebration probably will be held near that time.

New Traffic Light Is Big Improvement

One of the best traffic improvements in Emmitsburg is the overhead traffic light in the square. This has been a long needed and necessary improvement to prevent accidents.

The light, "a little too high" according to some observers, is suspended over the center of the square and starts and stops traffic in all four directions. Stop lines have also been painted at strategic spots at the approach and made it considerably safer for motorists.

Another great improvement is the new, smaller, green parking sign. "Now this is a pleasure to drive through our fine community," one veteran resident observed.

Other improvements in the community indicate the steady growth and expansion of this historic town.

BUILD ADDITION TO VFW HOME

An addition to the post home of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Emmitsburg is well under way and is expected to be completed by mid-October. The concrete block addition for the 35 by 55 foot addition is nearly finished.

The annex which is being built to the rear and north of the present VFW home will nearly double the size of the VFW home and will provide a large room for meetings, dances, banquets and other community functions.

Plans are being discussed for dedicatory ceremonies in the fall for the newest improvement and expansion of the VFW property which was purchased by the veterans' group in 1947.

For a. Oiler is commander of the post which now has 300 members.

Minor Elder of Thurman is co-conductor for the new building.

SET DATE FOR PHONE HEARING

EMMITTSBURG, Pa. — The Public Utility Commission today set Sept. 29 for oral arguments in Harrisburg on a $500,000 annual rate increase proposed by the Commonwealth Telephone Co., Dallas.

The argument was requested by former Gov. Arthur H. James, Plymouth, who is now in attorney representing a number of persons protesting the increase and Leroy Long, Harrison, counsel for a group of other protesters.

The increase was originally filed to become effective Jan. 1, but the PUC suspended it for nine months to Oct. 1 to determine its justification. The public hearings in the case ended last week.

Commonwealth furnishes service to 22,400 subscribers in Bradford, Columbia, Lockswater, Luzerne, Schuylkill, Sullivan, Susquehanna, and Wyoming counties.

The action will give attorneys for both the utility and the complainants their first say before the case goes to the commission for a decision.

It is difficult to dispose of telephone information permanently with police because a few of the wood-digesting bacteria in the insects' stomachs will survive, establishing a point-to-point trap.

PA. GREYHOUND OPPOSES SPEED GADGET ON BUSES

HARRISBURG, Pa. — A charge by the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., that installation of speed-recording devices on its buses operating on the Pennsylvania Turnpike is "unjustified" was under consideration by the Public Utility Commission today.

"I see no practical value in the device," W. A. Dr. Van, Chicago, Greyhound maintenance engineer, said at a Public Utility Commission hearing yesterday.

Dr. Van held that speed governors, already installed on Greyhound buses, are the "most positive control" on drivers. The governors hold buses down to 55 miles per hour.

The engineer and other Greyhound witnesses presented the company's case at a hearing called to give the firm an opportunity to show cause why installation of the device should not be ordered.

Called "Noosey" for the commission, Howard A. Weaver, PUC accident investigator, testified that he believed use of the device by municipalities was "an absolute necessity."

And PUC Atty. Lloyd Benjamin maintained that the device would be a deterrent to future accidents and help determine future preventive actions.

The mechanism brought into focus by the PUC is designed to provide a continuous chart record of bus speeds from start to finish of a run.

A. E. Patterson, Cleveland, Ohio, vice president in charge of Greyhound operations, told a spokesman the estimated cost of installing the device on 275 buses using the turnpike would be upwards of $50,000.

Costs $500,000, however, he added that installing the mechanism would invalidate the use of present speedometers in the buses. This would mean the loss of another $500 per vehicle, he said.

Ernest S. Burch, Camp Hill, Greyhound attorney, asked the commission to dismiss its proposal to have the company install the mechanism on grounds that the order was "discriminatory."

Commissioner John E. Conly, however, denied the petition, subject to review by the full five-member commission.

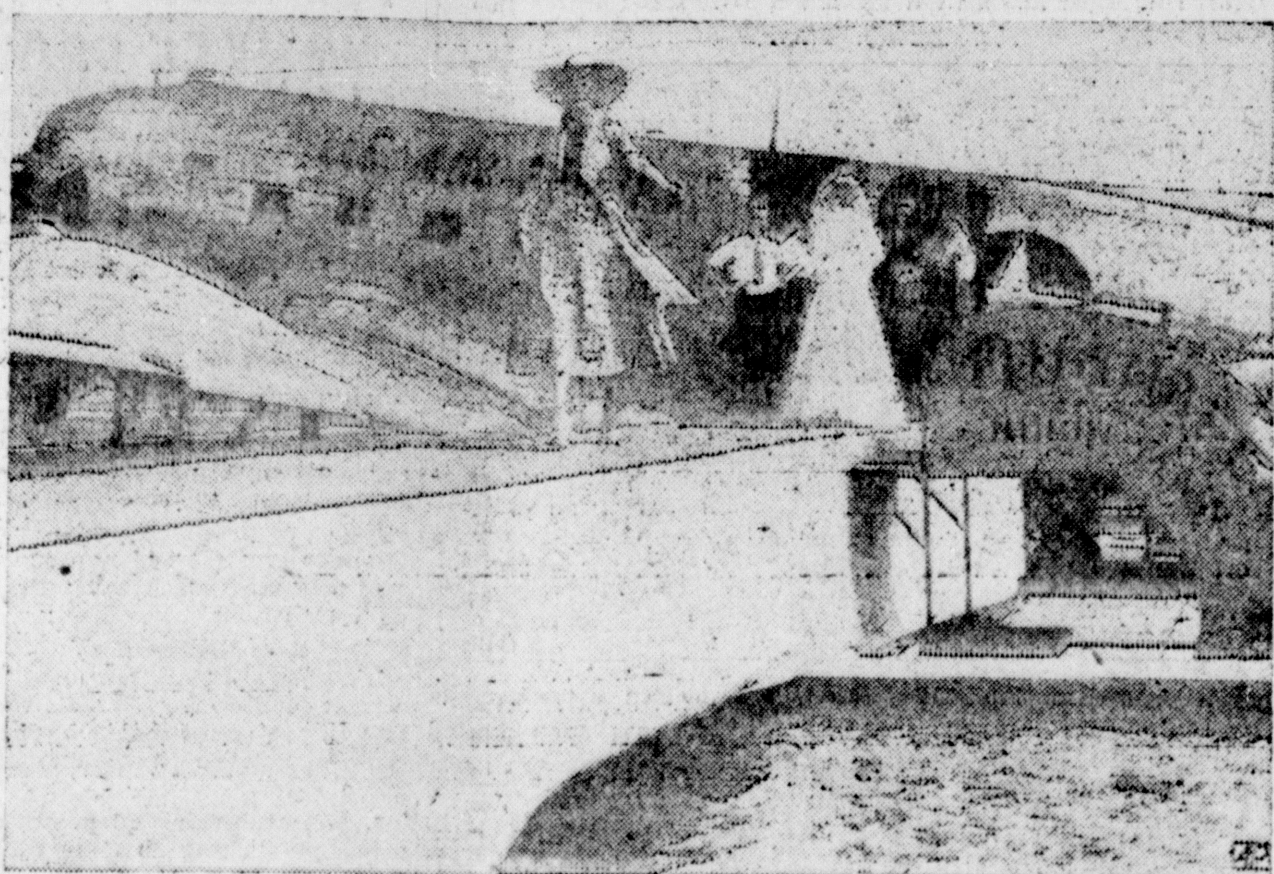

In addition to Greyhound, the Somerset Bus Co., Somerset, has authority to operate on the turnpike between the Somerset and Trumbull interchanges. A few other firms also have charter authority to operate on the toll road.

The hearing was scheduled by the PUC after a Greyhound accident on the turnpike near here June 12 took the lives of five women.

CRASHED TO DEATH
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — Daniel McGinnis, 19, of Haverhill, Udon View, a freshman on an eight-month job, was crushed to death yesterday when a truck backed over him.

McGinnis was working on a job near Bowman Field, home of the Williamsport entry in the Eastern Baseball League.

Great Britain exports about 14 million dollars worth of thoroughbred horses a year.

FLIGHT OF FASHION — Lacking commercial plane, Frankfurt, Germany, fashion designers used U. S. Air Force plane as dressing room for models showing summer lines at airport.

MILK PRICES IN NEW YORK AREA ARE ADOPTED

NEW YORK, Pa. — A uniform price of $3.50 per hundredweight (48.5 quarts) will be paid to dairy farmers for July milk deliveries to 400 pool-approved plants in the six-state New York market.

The producer benefits differential for July will be 6.4 cents for each 100 pounds of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The figures were announced yesterday by C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. The uniform price in June was $3.50. In July, 1952, it was $4.50.

Blanford reported that July's milk production set monthly records for both total volume and daily average output per farm. The July production of 642,607,500 pounds was 3.1 per cent above that of June, 1952. The daily average production per farm in July was 41 pounds, 11 pounds higher than a year ago.

Farm value of the July pool, including butterfat and location premiums, was $25,555,707, it was $27,451,602 in July, 1952.

There were 49,500 producers supplying milk to pool plants in July. This was an increase of 504 over July a year ago.

Blanford said July sale of fluid milk in the marketing area was down 3.7 per cent from 1952.

OREVENE, Wyo. — When Airman Everett D. Brantow got leave to visit his mother in Cheyenne, did he fly? No, he paid an air policeman at Fort Worth, Tex., $25 for a Model T-Ford that wouldn't run, fixed it, painted it and made the trip at a cruising speed of 55 miles per hour.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Moving Machinery Into Shoe Factory

Machinery is being moved into the recently purchased Four Shoe Manufacturing Company plant in Emmitsburg, near the community field, and the plant is expected to be in full operation within three weeks, according to reports from Emmitsburg today.

The factory, which will produce a general line of shoes, can employ about 125 persons but the company has talked of expanding plant for the future.

The plant was recently purchased from the Hanover Shoe Company, and has been here for more than a year.

Why Spray?
It costs money to spray fields of fruit trees, but the farmer knows the money will earn. With so many things on the farm, it's not the cost, but what you get for your money that counts. That's why so many farmers say the telephone is one of the farm tools that really pays for itself by saving time and trouble and travel.

"All together, ho!"
A portion doesn't have to bore very old to remember the farmstead that had to be pulled by hand across the river. Pioneers didn't mind pushing in and helping for they knew "pulling together" meant faster, better service for everyone. That kind of friendly co-operation works wonders on the telephone party line too—makes the service better for all on the line. In fact, most people say party-line service is mighty fine service when everyone shares it fairly.

August is a good month to—
Encourage 4-H youngsters to attend Club Week at the University, and to keep them working on fair exhibitors. Give livestock from green pastures on afternoon hay grounds. Get straw off grain fields to give legume seedings a better chance. Oil and clean, oil-burner motors that have probably been neglected in rush harvest work. Get the plow in shape for early fall plowing—clean nuts and bolts and put on new tires. Check with the neighbors for new conservation ideas during Mary and Lead Week.

Crash last—the original ball amount—of $150,000 for one defendant and $25,000 for the other were excessive.

Judge Grim ordered bail reduced from $50,000 to $20,000 for Joseph Thomas and William J. Wood. Thomas and Wood had been arrested on the charge of the Philadelphia "Babe" case. The defendants had been in the court previously they were up to find attorneys to represent them.

McDermis, Sherman and Woodson said they were appearing only for the bail hearing, that the defendants wanted they would be able to obtain counsel if free under bail. Judge Grim set a further hearing at the charges for Aug. 24, and ordered the court would appear at the hearing if the defendants were unable to retain attorneys.

Opposed Bailment
U. S. Atty. Joseph H. McGowan opposed reduction of the bail amounts, telling the court that the defendants are "the top faction" of the Communist party in this area.

"It would be important to the area," McGowan said, "if the defendants were able to retain attorneys."

Communist party to have some of those men out on bail and "not show up for their trial," McGowan said.

Atty. Thomas D. McBride, Joseph Sherman and William J. Woodson appeared to defend the men at the request of the Philadelphia Bar Association. The defendants had been in the court previously they were up to find attorneys to represent them.

CALLS YANKEES WHO TURNED RED "PLAIN ROTTEN"

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—"Rotten, that's what they are—just plain rotten—and I better never get ahold of them."

The words were those of Pfc. Joe E. Allen, one of the last men to be repatriated from notorious Prison Camp 5 on the Yalu River.

He was talking about American prisoners who collaborated with Communist captors and who served as "stool pigeons."

"Because of them," Allen said, "my buddy who tried to escape with me is dead. Because of them, an American soldier just got a year's prison sentence on a fake charge and won't be coming home. Because of them, I spent plenty of time in a dungeon hole and at hard labor."

Defied Captors

Allen, of Kilbourn, La., was a tough nut the Communists couldn't crack. He served three sentences, trussed up for days at a time with his knees tied against his chest, in a pitch-black dungeon in which there were six inches of water.

His hatred for his captors never wavered.

"I did my best to escape," he told reporters today. "Me and a buddy. We got out and stayed out 10 hours before they got us. Ten hours out of the camp a North Korean officer was waiting to nab us. One of the stool pigeons had told on us."

Knew 15 Cuss Words

"The North Korean officer knew 15 words of English, all of them cuss words, and he used them all and kicked us all the way back to the camp. They put us in the dungeon hole. They tied our hands around our knees and then looped the rope around our necks. They laid us on the bottom of the hole on our backs."

"Three days later they opened the hole and asked if we were ready to sign a self-criticism for trying to escape."

"I said I was ready, but my buddy said he wasn't signing a self-criticism. It doesn't amount to anything—all you do is admit you tried to escape, which we had done. But he said he wasn't quite ready. Two days later, he was found in the hole, still tied up and dead. I think maybe the Chinese beat him to death. His mouth was covered with dried blood. Maybe they poisoned him. They tried to say that rats killed him, but I was in that hole enough to know that there weren't any rats there."

Some dirty rat killed him, but it wasn't a four-legged rat."

He added bitterly: "If you don't crawl to them, you're against them. There's no middle ground."

Allen estimated 15 American collaborators at Camp 5 chose not to be repatriated.

HAWAII GOOD FOR IRISHMEN; HAS ON SNAKES

HONOLULU (P)—Here's a thumb-nail Baedeker to Hawaii, which may become America's 49th state. A great place for the Irish since it has no snakes. No other state can make that claim. . . . The island chain has eight major islands, 465,000 people, 6,400 square miles of land and, if you included the water area, is bigger than Texas. . . . It will be the only island state, separated by half an ocean and 2,000 miles from the nearest state border (California). . . . Hawaii has a currently active volcano. No other state can make that claim. Mauna Loa, 13,600 feet high, is the biggest natural furnace in the world. . . . Ukuleles came originally from Portugal, not Hawaii. . . .

Caucasian Minority

This is one of the most polyglot spots on earth and one of the least troubled by racial difficulty. Caucasians are a minority, ranking behind Japanese-Americans, Hawaiians or part-Hawaiians and followed by Filipinos, Chinese, many others. . . . On one street in Honolulu you can find a Catholic school, a Buddhist temple and a Protestant church. Also names like Wong, Yamaguchi, O'Brien and Keoloha, and they're all Americans. . . . The islands' motto is "Ua Mau Ke Ea O Ka Aina I Ka Pono," which means, "The growth of the land is perpetuated by righteousness." No other state can make that claim. In Polynesia. . . . Collectively, the islands are said to form the biggest bird colony in the world. . . .

The preferred pronunciation is "Hahwayee." "Hahwayee" is somewhat affected. The Hawaiian language uses only seven consonants and the vowels in its 12-letter alphabet. Every word and syllable ends in a vowel. . . . Of the major islands, the one called Hawaii is the biggest but Oahu has the most people (about a third), the most business and finance, the capital city, Pearl Harbor, Waikiki Beach and Schofield Barracks. . . . The four biggest sources of income come from the military, sugar, pineapples and tourists. No cooie wages were since the place is well unionized. Stenographers average $218 a month and waitresses about 65 cents an hour, which is also the minimum for baby sitters. . . .

BARNACLE STAN THINKS HE HAS PESTS LICKED

COMPTON, Calif.—Capt. J. Stanley Cameron's fight against the barnacle covers two world wars and a 12-year battle with the patent office, but today he feels he has licked the sea-going hitchhikers.
The 67-year-old former sea captain does it by swabbing ships' hulls with what amounts to millions of tiny batteries to shock the fouling organisms.
When barnacles die the shells form layers which may become several inches thick along the entire submerged hull.
During World War I, Cameron's product was used by the Navy to keep hulls of the fast-hitting PT boats clean and insure the much needed speed for attack. It was also utilized on crash boats and other naval vessels.
The captain provided the product although he didn't have the protection of a patent. Now he has received his basic patent which will allow general distribution.
Was Taken Prisoner
The story of Cameron's Lectrolux had its beginning during World War I, when he was taken prisoner by the German raider Wolf.
"I think those fellows worried more about the barnacles than they did about enemy ships," he recalls. "The heavy coating of fouling organisms cut the ship's speed from 14 knots to about seven and one-half. And the fuel consumption went up correspondingly."
After the war he was a tanker skipper until 1935.
"By that time we'd saved about $16,000 and decided to live on shore," Cameron explains. "My wife and I gave ourselves two years. At the end of that time, if I couldn't make a good living, we'd go back to the sea."
Finally he came up with his shocker, mixing copper and zinc with cuprous and mercuric oxide in a binder. The coating goes on like paint with brush or spray.
Ocean brine contacting the coating sets up currents which the animal organisms receive through sensitive antennae.

SHE'S A STAR BUT SHE'S HAD NO TROUBLES

NEW YORK (P)—Doretta Morrow is that rare anomaly of show business who never had to start from the bottom up.
"Just luck," she says.
"Just talent," say the admirers of this brown-eyed, petite singer.
On Broadway, she has had important roles in three straight hits—"The Red Mill," "Where's Charley?" and "The King and I." Her first movie contract came without even the formality of a screen test and she won the singing lead opposite Mario Lanza in "Because You're Mine."
More recently, Doretta began playing "prestige" spots—places like the Cotillion Room of the Hotel Pierre in New York, the Algers in Miami and the Thunder-Bird in Las Vegas.
The singer, who was Doretta Marano while growing up in Brooklyn, began taking singing and dancing lessons at an early age.
That left little time to play with other children.
Got Rate At 17
"By the time I got to New Utrecht High," she recalls, "the other kids were beginning to get a little annoyed, I think. So somebody asked me what I did with all my afternoons. I said I was taking singing lessons. So somebody else said if you're so good why don't you get a part in a show?"
"So, at 17 and not knowing enough to be scared, I took the dare. I auditioned and got a good singing role in something called 'Shooting Star.' Honestly, it was that simple. I still can't believe it."
That was in 1944 and "Shooting Star" shot its bolt in the New Haven tryout. The show never got to Broadway but Doretta, having caught the attention of other producers, most definitely did.
FIRE WATER BOTTLE
TRINIDAD, Colo. (P)—The glare of the sun through a bottle tossed in a bed of pine cones was believed responsible for starting a forest fire blazing through 3,000 acres of brush and timber recently near the Colorado-New Mexico border. Damage was estimated at $25,000.
British exports in 1953 were about 80 per cent above those before World War II.

Bedroom "Mike" Stills Barking Dogs

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (P)—A dog lover believes in peace and quiet of his neighbors as well as the happiness of his five Weimaraners has found an easy way to keep them all happy.
George C. Wiedeman has rigged up a 70-foot electrical communication system from his home to the backyard kennels.
If one of the dogs starts barking in the middle of the night, Wiedeman speaks sharply or smacks his hand with a rolled newspaper—before his bedroom microphone.
The dog obeys his master's voice. The neighbors get their sleep.

40 LETTERS BY ONE MAN END REVOLT

BRESCIA, Italy (AP)—The local tax collector—once the "White Sultan of Dancalia"—believes he has put down an African native revolt 3,000 miles away, by mail. He is Giuseppe Cesare Comelli, a quiet-mannered doctor of literature.

Dancalia is a remote region of inner Ethiopia. News stories told of tribal revolts. He wrote 40 letters to the region's tribal chiefs commanding them: "Restore order, live in peace."

The chiefs know him as their "Farangi Sultan"—white sultan. Some weeks passed—and news dispatches reported order in Dancalia at least temporarily restored. Italian papers, in publishing the story, credit Comelli, they term the "Italian Lawrence."

Twenty years ago Comelli, former librarian and automobile racer, was a captain in the Italian Colonial Army, fighting in Abyssinia. At the end of the campaign he agreed to remain in Africa and was nominated the first Italian resident to Dancalia.

He went there alone but for native bearers, carrying a portable radio, a few bottles of brandy and of mineral water and a couple of official rubber stamps, only emblem of his newly acquired rank. Eventually, feverish with malaria, he arrived at his destination. In him most of the natives saw a white man for the first time. It took him almost two years, but finally he was able to gain the friendship and the respect of the chiefs.

Comelli is Captured
Then came World War II. Comelli was ordered, again by radio, to organize a "line of resistance against the British." He did, but it didn't last long. After a few weeks he was captured and sent to a camp in British Somaliland. He didn't remain there long. His native "subjects" located their "white sultan," helped him to escape and he made his way to Naples.

Comelli's life is quieter now. Yet sometimes, amid hundreds of income-tax records, his mail still brings in tattered envelopes. Inside he finds a sheet on which there is rarely anything but a few fingerprints with strange scars on them: the "signatures" of his former subjects.

SEVEN-LEAF CLOVER

Earliest New England houses were built of thick planks instead of logs as is generally believed.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 million kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. AMAZON INDIANS
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—How many Indians are there in Brazil? One million? Five hundred thousand? Two hundred thousand?

The nation's Service for the Protection of Indians (SPI) admits frankly that it doesn't know exactly. The above are guesses made by some of its experts.

Such a variance, naturally, makes the planning of assistance programs a little difficult. So the Service is taking a census of Indians.

The job, SPI director Gama Melcher says, is especially difficult because even some of the known tribes live in regions that are difficult of access. There also are tribes still unknown.

A majority of the Indians in Brazil, the director says, live in the Amazon region. The coastal tribes and those living in the south already have been absorbed into the Brazilian population.

MORE AMMO IS ASSURED U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—America now lacks enough ammunition for all-out war, but production at three times the Korean War total will bring next year "a readiness posture never heretofore attained."

That was the estimate of a Senate armed services subcommittee headed by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine).

It was released last night, its optimistic tone in sharp contrast to the same group's report in May that ammunition was critically scarce for nearly two years in Korea, causing "a needless loss of American lives."

The special subcommittee's latest report said ammunition shortages in Korea had ended before the truce silenced the guns last month.

It predicted that ammunition produced during the fiscal year which began July 1 will be greater than during all three years of the Korean War.

Rubber-covered racks are easier on dishes than those of tinned wire. If you are buying one of these racks, make sure it has a smooth unbroken rubber coating that is fairly thick. Be sure, too, that the rubber is a type that will not be softened by grease or hardened by heat.

SHORTAGE OF CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION ACUTE

By Jane Eads
WASHINGTON (AP) — There are just not enough boys and girls to go around for all the American families who want to adopt children.

"There are many more families, about 10 to 15 times as many, as there are children legally relinquished by their parents for adoption, and the number of orphans is infinitesimal," Jo Evelyn Smith of the U. S. Children's Bureau told me. Some 80,000 families each year file petitions to adopt a child.

Miss Smith, consultant on adoption, foster home and day care for children, says that adoption has become increasingly popular as more children have been placed and people see their friends happy in their new family life.

Need Legislation
Miss Smith says that unless Congress passes legislation to let foreign youngsters in on a non-quota basis, families cannot hope to find a child to adopt in that field either. She says she receives many letters from people who wish to adopt children from abroad, especially American-fostered children born out of wedlock in Japan and Korea, of whom she says there are many. Current immigration laws permit only a total quota of 183 persons a year for Japan and 100 for Korea. For Germany, however, the quota is much higher and between 700 and 800 children have been adopted from there since the war, mostly by Americans stationed in that country. Greek and Italian quotas also are higher. England and Ireland have tightened their adoption laws, Ireland permitting children to go aboard only with their parents' consent and England limiting adoption to British citizens or relatives.

Want Children Home
"Most countries are unwilling to let their children go," Miss Smith explained, "because they wish to keep the youth to strengthen and build up their own population. At any rate our new immigration laws prohibit the majority of the would-be adoptees from coming into this country."

Last year, she said, 435 "private bills" were introduced in Congress on behalf of individuals who wanted to get children in on a non-quota basis for adoption. Of these only 220 passed.

Until last year some 2,838 orphans were admitted to the U. S. on a non-quota basis under the Displaced Persons program and 200 children were brought in by the U. S. Committee for the Care of European Children. Both programs have been dissolved.

Wild Horse Herds Range Thru Clouds

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — If you are adventurous and want to go on a wild horse roundup in the clouds, Ethiopia has just what you are looking for.

Between Addis Ababa and the Red Sea towers flat-topped Mt. Gondok, rising 10,000 feet into the sky. On its table top summit, which often is wrapped in clouds, roam hundreds—and maybe thousands—of wild horses.

The Ethiopian government has never sent an expedition up the lofty mountain to investigate the wild horse herds. Local inhabitants say that one or two foreign groups have made the attempt.

Situated in wild country, and with a scorching desert to pass through before reaching it, Mt. Gondok presents a stiff challenge to any hardy and adventurous mountaineers who seek to explore the secrets of its herds of wild horses.

DDT Best Defense Against Weevils

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No wonder farmers have headaches. T.H. Parks, an entomologist at Ohio State University, says one pair of grain weevils have 60,000 offspring in four months' time.

One hundred pairs of weevil parents plus their progeny can contaminate 1,400 bushels of wheat in four months so that the Food and Drug Administration will declare the grain unfit for human consumption.

Parks says the best defense against the pests is to clean and spray grain bins before harvest time and then spray walls and floors with 5 per cent DDT.

CARPENTERS UNION QUILTS PARENT GROUP

By NORMAN WALKER

CHICAGO (AP)—Dicker between the AFL and CIO for a merger already has produced a major casualty. The powerful Carpenters Union has pulled out of the AFL in protest.

The 822,000-member carpenters group, a pillar of the AFL and one of its founding unions, suddenly severed connections with the federation yesterday.

Action by other AFL leaders in okaying an agreement with the CIO to ban "raids" of rival union membership was given as the reason but Carpenters' President Maurice A. Hutcheson conceded:

"It's the climax of something that's been going on for a long time in the AFL."

Hutcheson wrote in a letter to AFL President George Meany revealing his union's secession that he objected to the AFL agreeing to ban fights between AFL and CIO unions when, he said the AFL hadn't taken steps to stop scraps among its own unions.

Hutcheson's letter complained that AFL leaders "are more concerned with the affairs of the CIO than they are with those of the federation."

Meany fired back that Hutcheson's reasons for quitting "didn't seem to make sense." He said the "no raiding" agreement with the CIO was a necessary first step toward achieving an actual AFL-CIO merger—something Meany said almost everyone agreed would benefit all labor.

In San Francisco, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said the carpenters' action "exemplifies the fallacy of this twaddledum and twaddledone policy of the AFL Executive Council in avoiding the basic question of unity."

Lewis refused to say whether he will ask the carpenters to join in his reported move to form a new labor federation of miners, AFL teamsters and CIO steelworkers.

Meany hinted broadly to newsmen that he considered the carpenters primarily at the root of many jurisdictional troubles within the AFL.

He said Hutcheson, while protesting against lack of AFL power to stop fights between AFL unions, probably would be the first one to protest against vesting any such power in the AFL leadership.

Twice before, the Carpenters Union has pulled out of the AFL only to return later.

Ducked Teacher Hoses Students

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A group of University of Oklahoma engineering students finally gave in to the long-suppressed desire to duck an instructor before the start of final examinations.

The students gave an engagement shower for Edwin Jackson, student instructor in engineering—and just as the last gift was being presented they grabbed Jackson, carried him to the University's Mirror Pool and dumped him in.

Jackson recovered quickly, returned to the Baptist Student Center, scene of the shower, grabbed a garden hose and turned it on his tormentors.

Rural Lincoln Piles Up Mileage

CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—A 12-year-old farm boy, Albert Ringwald, walks 12 miles into town—and back home again—to get books to read.

At times he catches rides for part of the 24-mile round trip.

About every 10 days he checks out 12 to 15 books at the Cushing library and totes them home in a canvas sack. A brother, Ronald, 14, goes along frequently to help carry the volumes.

HANDLE HAD HAMMER
DALLAS (AP)—A 300-pound woman told Justice of the Peace W. E. Richburg yesterday that she struck her husband with a hammer handle during a domestic argument.

Richburg remarked that the 125-pound husband had quite a bad cut in his head to have been hit only with a wooden handle.

"Well, judge," the wife admitted, "I guess the handle did have a hammer on it."

Match Book Covers Read By Millions

BALTIMORE (AP)—How many prepuenagiasts are there in the United States? The match industry says there are probably 29 million. And what is a prepuenagiast? It is a person who reads the match book cover striking the match.

At least, so he's been defined by Dr. J. E. Schmidt, a Baltimore lexicographer. At any rate, surveys show that three out of every eight persons who carry match books—and there are 79 million of them in the United States—can recall the message on the match books in their pockets without looking to check up.

—These Women—

Stop Pitying
Those Summer
Bachelors

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

Something pretty drastic should be done to save from extinction a fast-disappearing American bird: the summer bachelor, readily identified by a lean, hungry and unpressed appearance.

Through the years has grown up a fine legend about this species. The summer bachelor was the fellow who had to remain in the hot city or suburbs close to his office week-days while the wife and kiddies lived in cool comfort at a distant cottage or camp.

According to tradition, the summer bachelor had a thin time of it struggling along solo. He was badly equipped by nature and instinct to keep body and soul together during this difficult period. Popular conception of his summer abode was a nest piled high with unwashed dishes, pots and pans. The ice box was reputed to be stuffed with nothing but beer. Clothes were scattered casually about the place; beds unmade, and cigarette butts spilled over heaping ash trays.

Object Of Pity

These fellows were the object of neighborhood and office pity, usually the object of invitations to meals. It was believed that, if the summer bachelor ate at home, his diet was largely confined to fried eggs. When he arrived for his week-end at the distant cottage or camp, his wife carefully inspected him for signs of malnutrition, and then lectured him about sending his suits to the cleaner and his shirts to the Chinaman.

Well, all this has changed considerably with the times. It's gotten so that it's practically impossible to identify the summer bachelor in any, except that he's apt to be without an automobile if a suburban resident.

We've a number of these once-benighted soul roughing it through the week-days in my neighborhood, and such an orderly preoccupied and self-satisfied bunch of household engineers I've never encountered. I suspect each one of them is making notes on how to run the perfect home for a future article or book designed to make their wives look like disorganized idiots.

Culinary Experience

One temporarily single householder of my acquaintance held forth on the train for a solid hour the other morning on his culinary experiments. Apparently, he's utilizing his wife's absence to whip up all sorts of dishes with which to amaze guests in the cooler months. He's not the only one who is a cooking fan. Lately, a man who can't grill a steak outdoors or who hasn't his own secret salad dressing isn't very fashionable, anyway. Most of our summer bachelors are hobby cooks and are feeding themselves well. Most of them are pretty good housekeepers now, too. That's due to the increasing numbers of mechanical aids they have in their houses. Although once most of the boys stuck firmly to a myth that they couldn't wash or dry dishes, nowadays they've had to help the little woman out with a towel—or foot around adjusting the dishwashing machine. That excuse is out. So is the messy house, due to such things as vacuum cleaners.

Most of these summer bachelors seem to be thriving on being deserted by their families.

I know one woman who flatly refuses to take off with the children for the season. It used to demonstrate to her husband how important her ministrations were, she confessed. Now she doesn't want him to know just exactly how well he can struggle along without her.

GROWING GREENS FOR AUTUMN

If it were possible to prepare a chart showing the vitamin and mineral supplies in average human diets around the year, a sharp drop would be indicated from late summer until early June. In other words, we Americans are prone to neglect our diets during the seven to nine months of the calendar year when garden crops are not plentiful. One of the better ways to lengthen the period of sound diet is to stress more green vegetables from late summer until early winter.

Home gardeners and farmers may still grow several excellent greens crops. Spinach, for example, which leads all other green vegetables in vitamin and mineral values, may be seeded any time until the first week in September in this latitude. If grown where early potatoes or other heavily fertilized vegetables were grown, late spinach will require no additional fertility. Of course the soil should be finely and deeply pulverized. Too, to avoid standing water later it may be advisable to form a slight ridge for each row. After growth is well started the rows may be mulched with fine litter worked well up beneath the lower leaves to protect the plants from splashing soils.

Mustard reaches edible size in a few weeks after seed is sown. Like spinach, mustard is not injured by light frosts. Therefore, seed may be sown any time before the latter part of September and greens enjoyed until early winter. Again, slight ridging and later mulching will reduce damages from standing water and splashing rain.

Kale is not only a nourishing greens crop but it may be grown well toward mid-winter where the rows are protected with evergreen boughs or loose straw after snow and alternate freezing and thawing arrive. Seed for the late crop should be sown around the middle of August, although many gardeners gamble successfully against inclement weather and making a sowing as late as early September. Ridging is advisable to avoid standing water.

August 1 is generally recognized as the latest safe date for starting chard. But again gardeners may risk unseasonably early winter by making a final planting this week. Chard is actually a form of beet that is grown for its top instead of its roots. It is frost hardy and fits well into the late garden.

Leafing varieties of lettuce should be started in well drained beds every two weeks until mid-September, thereafter in open coldframes so that sash may be placed over the bed whenever heavy rains or severe freezing weather arrives. It is, in fact, possible for gardeners and farmers to grow lettuce for home use almost every month in the year.

Turnips attain edible size as greens within a few weeks after seed is sown. Here is another greens crop rich in vitamins and minerals. Seed may be sown until late September, although seeding within the next three or four weeks is advisable to bring the tops to harvest size when they are most needed in family diets.

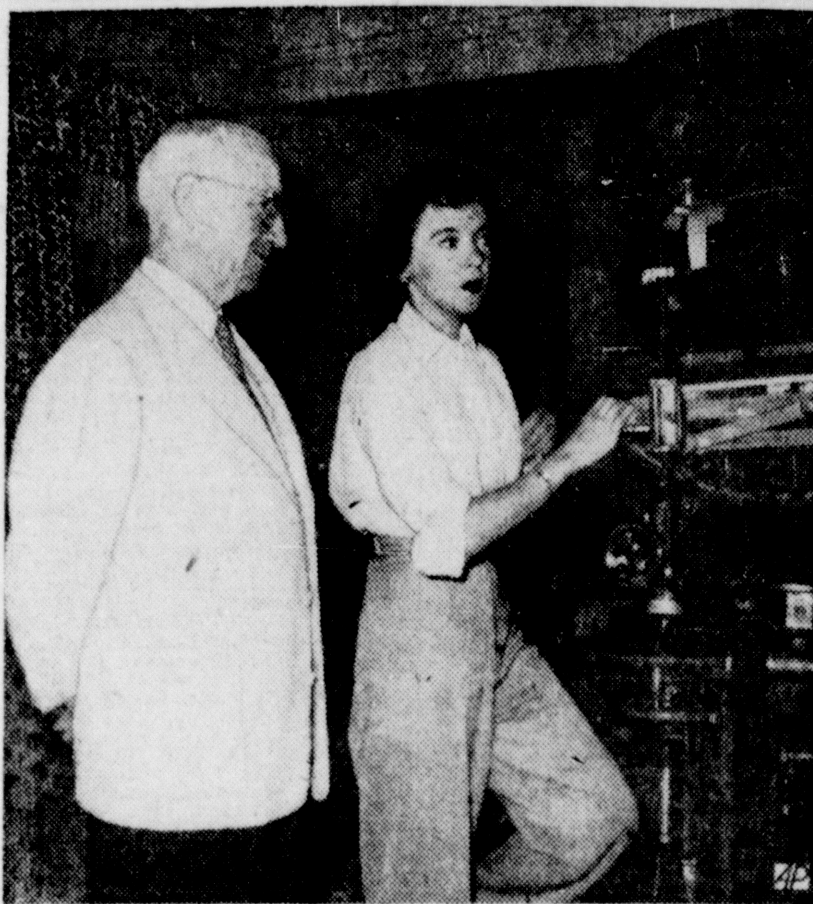

In all cases where seed of these late crops is sown in dry soil, ample watering is advisable to avoid loss of time from slow germination. Too, irrigation later pays big dividends until fall rains are adequate to supply moisture requirements. The recommended mulching helps to conserve soil moisture in addition to keeping the tops clean from contact with the soil.

BRAMBLE PRUNING AND CARE

Soon after raspberries, blackberries, and dewberries are harvested, the old or bearing canes should be cut off at the crown, removed, and burned. This post-harvest operation gains three important benefits for bramble fruits: (1) The strength that would otherwise be wasted in sustaining the old and worthless canes will go into the new canes on which the next year's fruit will be borne; (2) Several disease dangers and at least two or three common insect foes are greatly eliminated by this operation; (3) With the old canes out of the way, the new canes can be given an important post-harvest spray less expensively and more effectively.

Every grower of these three fine fruits should observe that the old cane, the cane on which this year's berries are grown, never bears again. It is, therefore, useless as soon as the fruit is harvested. Next year's fruit will be borne on the new canes that are now growing from the crown. It is on these that the grower should center his care. This care should consist of two phases at this time, that is, as soon as the old canes are pruned out.

First, immediately after removal of the old canes the new growth should be sprayed with Bordeaux

RICH RED IS SENT TO JAIL

MOSCOW (AP)—A Moscow millionaire is serving a 10-year sen-month and have an abundant growth to cut for mulching material next spring before plowing the rye residue under.

And gardeners and farmers who intend to start a bramble plantation next spring should plan and follow this course—Sow winter rye by the middle of August, order plants in January for March 1 delivery, turn the rye under in late February or early March, and set the nursery stock out as early as spring soil and weather conditions permit.

With the advent of quick-freezing as a method of home storage, bramble fruits are taking on added merits. And for the same reason consumer demands are increasing in the face of serious under-production.

tence for his capitalistic operations. Semen Pavlovich Terentiev formerly chief of an administration department of the Institute of Laboratory Instrument Making, made his money by buying and selling—principally in diamonds and gold, but he even went in for buying 5,000 flints for cigarette lighters.

Terentiev led a Jekyll-Hyde existence. He was the soul of punctuality and dignity at his office, but away from it he did business in the streets with anyone he could get to sell or buy.

During one of his buying operations he was hauled in by two militiamen and arraigned in court. "Tell us, defendant," asked the judge, "why you bought jewelry with all the money you obtained? After all the prices are falling year by year."

"Money—what is money? Gold is safer. It may be useful in my old age."

The prosecutor said that "From the point of bourgeois morals and bourgeois law Terentiev is not at fault. But from our socialist point of view Terentiev is a mortal enemy of the Soviet people, a speculator, a parasite, living at the expense of the working people a typical figure of capitalist society."

His 24-year-old wife, Zoya, when she heard about her husband's case, sneered. "The wretch. He had all the money he wanted and he couldn't buy me a new coat."

A number of foods come packed in glass jars with wide mouths. Save the jars and use them as refrigerator dishes.

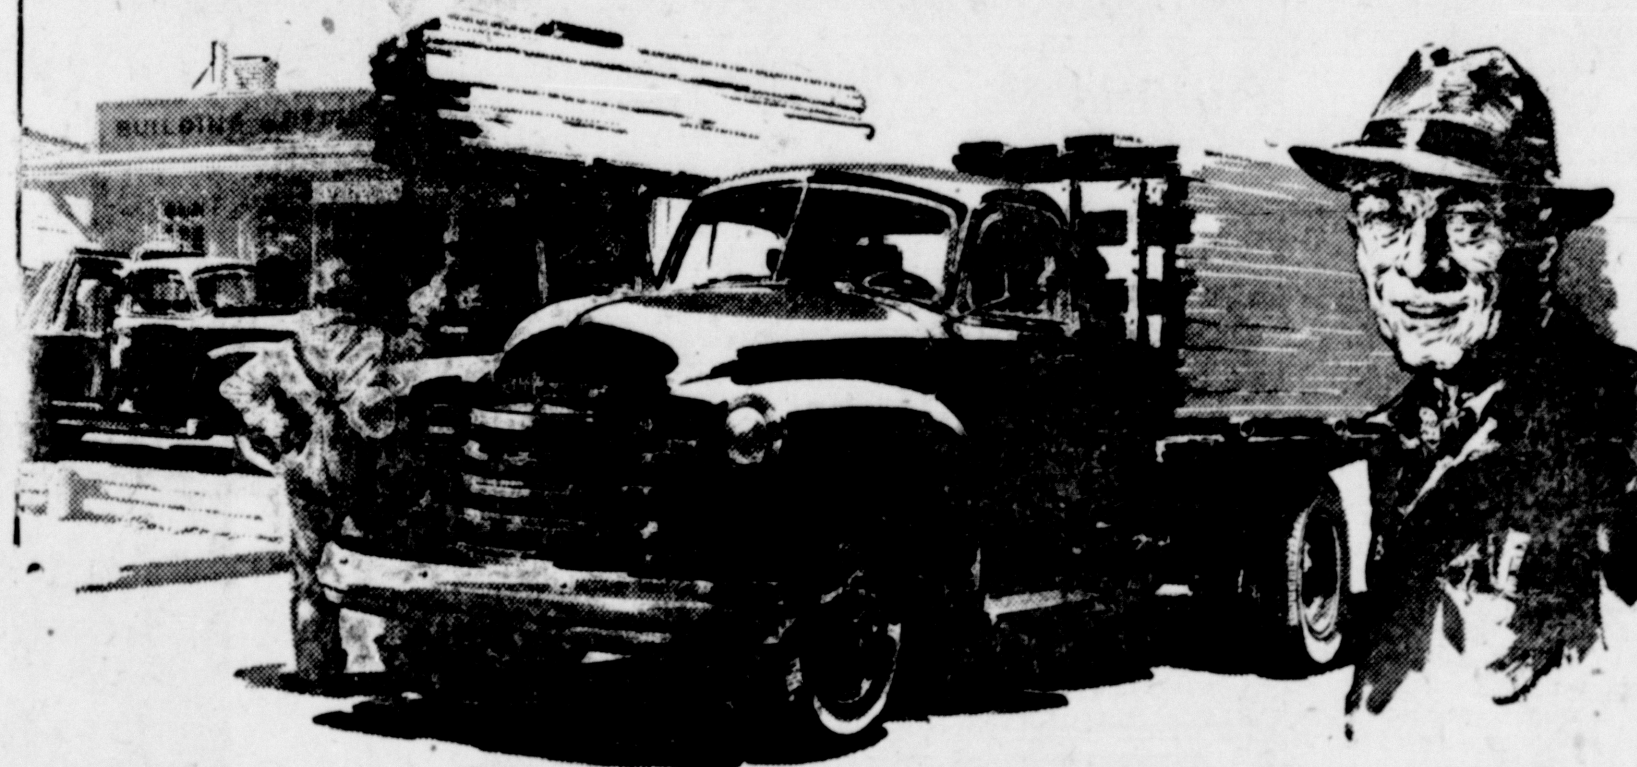

Buying new pots and pans? Watch out for dirt-catching crevices! Rims and handles should be easy to clean.

Add finely diced pimiento to a casserole of macaroni and cheese; tastes good and looks tempting!
